Halloween in Dholakpur : Co-read the story

Bheem's friend Peter had come to visit him on the eve of Halloween. He told Bheem and his friends the story and the traditions of Halloween.

Peter said, "In America, we wear costumes to scare away evil spirits. We go to houses in our neighbourhood and ask for candies by saying 'trick or treat!' We get a lot of candies in our candy-bucket."

Bheem was very interested and asked, "Why don't we celebrate Halloween in Dholakpur this year with a party?" Everyone was excited, and they even made their own costumes.

The next day all the kids wore their scary costumes. Bheem cut a square in one of his old black clothes, to make a vampire cape. Chhutki did her own makeup to look like a witch with a broom. Jaggu helped Raju by wrapping him around in a long cloth to make him a mummy. Kalia dressed himself like a Jack-o-lantern. Jaggu wore a white piece of cloth with two holes for eyes and became ghost. Dholu-Bholu made their skeleton costumes.

The next day, the children went trick or treating in the village. All the kids explained who they were and how they had made their costumes.

Once everyone had collected buckets full of candies, and they went to the Halloween party at the palace. In the end, Bheem and his friends were tired, but had a great time. Everyone shouted happily, "Happy Halloween!"
