

summer garden love

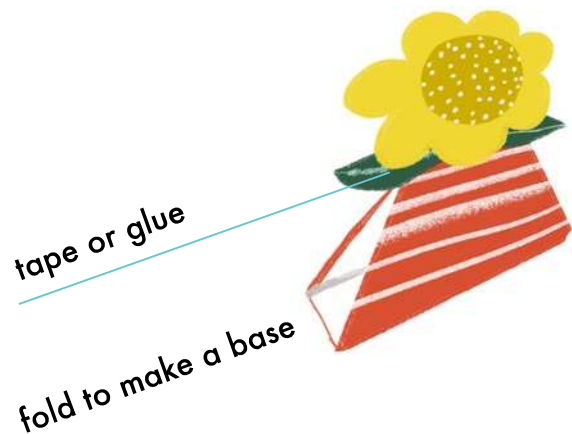

Summer is the season of sunflowers, and for this project we can build a little garden of sunflowers in pots that stand all on their own! For this project, we suggest using slightly thicker paper (for example, card stock) for your print out. Or you could glue the printout to a second sheet of paper to thicken it, before you cut it out.

Materials:

Flowerpot template

Scissors

Glue or tape

Instructions:

Step 1: Print the flower templates and trim to the dotted line.

Step 2: Fold as indicated on the template, to form a supportive flower pot. The white space will be the base.

Step 3: Glue the back of the pot to front (as pictured) to keep it nice and strong.

Step 4: Your garden is blooming! These little flowers in pots would make wonderful surprise gifts in a card for friends and family, as they can be flattened for the mail.
